2017 PNASA Annual Nursing Conference

PNASA in collaboration with the University of Santo Tomas Alumni International will hold its 3rd Annual Nursing Conference on April 29, 2017. The theme "Innovations to Improve Health and Health Systems" is designed to provide updates on current innovations that impact population health and health systems. Current evidence on prevention and management of cancer, diabetes, and opioid abuse along with stressors faced by caregivers will be presented. Chronic disease and addiction negatively affect individuals and families, and account for significant healthcare costs. The final sessions focus on health systems by exploring strategies for nurse leaders to improve medication safety and efficiency. More info: <http://www.mypnasatx.org/>
